B. Summary

The application purportedly became abandoned on the day after May 6, 2002, as the result of Applicants' failure to file a timely response to the Advisory

Action mailed on November 6, 2001. Applicants believe that the abandonment is erroneous inasmuch as Applicants filed a Request for Continued Examination (RCE) with the Office on November 14, 2001.

C. Submission

In support of Applicants' request the following materials are submitted herewith:

1. A copy of Applicants' Request for Continued Examination (RCE) dated November 14, 2001, in which the Office is authorized to charge any fees in connection with the RCE to the undersigned's Deposit Account No. 12-1216, and on which appears a certification that the RCE was transmitted by facsimile transmission to the Office on November 14, 2001.
2. A copy of the facsimile transmittal cover sheet dated November 14, 2001, addressed to Examiner Foley at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.
3. A copy of the facsimile transmission result report dated November 14, 2001, at 1:40 PM, showing that two pages of transmission (the cover sheet and the RCE) were successfully transmitted on the said date and time.

D. Statement

Attached hereto is a statement attesting to the timely transmission of the RCE referred to above based on personal knowledge.

E. Withdrawal of Abandonment

Applicants respectfully request acknowledgement of the active status of the instant application.

II. Alternative Petition to Revive a Patent Application Abandoned Unintentionally under 37 C.F.R § 1.137(B)

If the Office does not grant Applicants' request to withdraw the holding abandonment, Applicants hereby petition in the alternative for the revival of the above-identified patent application.

A. Delay was Unintentional

If, notwithstanding the above Request, this application is deemed properly to have become abandoned, it is respectfully asserted that any failure to prosecute was an unintentional delay. The entire delay in filing the required reply from the due date until the filing of this petition was unintentional (indeed, as the foregoing indicates, the undersigned had understood until receipt of the Notice of Abandonment that the application was pending, as it was believed that the aforementioned RCE had properly been timely filed).
